In Milan, in a studio filled with natural light and greenery, you will find your own space to slow down and let your creativity emerge. Here, among colors, canvases, and carefully curated details, painting becomes a simple and deeply personal act.

Guided step-by-step, you will connect with the creative process starting from the basics: discover how colors are made, learn to mix pigments, and find the shades that best represent you. No experience is necessary, only the desire to experiment and get involved.

During the session, you will explore painting and drawing techniques adapted to your level, working with a dedicated guide who will assist you in creating your artwork. Every stroke takes shape naturally, in a relaxed environment.

What makes this experience special
