Amidst pages that traverse eras and thoughts, reading classics transforms into a lively experience, far from the idea of something distant or already defined. Here, texts are not studied, but encountered.

Together with Massimo, you will delve into the classics through selected readings and discussion sessions. You will focus on words, structures, and meanings, exploring what makes these works still relevant. You will actively participate, relating the texts to your own perspective and experience.

During the meeting, classics stop appearing as an obligation and reveal themselves as tools to understand and narrate the present. Reading thus becomes a conscious act, capable of opening new perspectives in a dialogue that spans time.

What makes this experience special

- Direct guidance from a writer with a contemporary approach
- Selected readings to grasp the essence of the classics
- Open dialogue that values every interpretation
- Intimate setting that fosters concentration and discussion
- Small groups for a more engaging experience
